Animal Sciences and Industry
Photo Gallery
06/21/10

30th Annual Rapid Methods and Automation in Microbiology Workshop
(Photo courtesy of Debbie Hagenmaier.)

Dr. John Pollak, Director of USMARC, the largest livestock research facility in the world, speaks to Animal Sciences and Industry faculty and staff regarding potential collaborative projects. (Photo: Darla Thomas)

Keshia McAfee on the left (McNair Scholarship Program) and Candace Rodgers on the right (KSRE Multicultural Undergraduate Summer Research Program) work in the Food Safety & Defense Lab. (Photo: Randy Phebus)
It’s summer --

time for Judging Camps!

Dr. Scott Schaake coaches a judging camp participant on the finer points of oral reasons.

Livestock Judging Camp

Chris Mullinix, Livestock Judging Coach from Butler County Community College, discusses the official placing of a class with camp participants.

(Photos: Darla Thomas)
... and Horse Judging Camp!

Lane Nichols of Longford, KS enjoys the camping experience.

Sarah Smith, K-State Horse Judging team member, helps campers compose a set of oral reasons. (Photos: Ken Odde)

Teresa Slough holds a 3-year old mare so that James Lattimer, graduate student and horse judging coach, can show campers key elements of conformation evaluation. (Photo: Darla Thomas)
Equine Science Study Abroad Tour
Spain, Portugal and Morocco
May 18 – June 3, 2010

Group shot at the Gonzales Byass Winery in Jerez, Spain

Showing Purple Pride at the Roman ruins in Volubilis (Morocco)

Group members ride along the coast at Tarifa, Spain (Photos: Darla Thomas)
Training race horses at the Hippodrome LaZarzuela (Spain)

A Lusitano in training at Leziria Grande Riding Centre (Portugal)

Jumping demonstration at Centro Hípico Quinta da Marinha (Portugal) (Photos: Darla Thomas)