

Macie Weigand

Kansas State University

Animal Sciences & Industry

Don & Jane Good Outstanding Senior 2023

Macie Weigand, Monona, Iowa, has a passion for educating others about our nutritious and safe food supply. Her research and involvement within the department were key to her selection as the 2023 Don & Jane Good Outstanding Senior.

Macie was a member of the 2022 National Champion Meat Animal Evaluation Team, 2022 Livestock Judging Team and the 2023 Champion KSU ASI Academic Quadrathlon Team. Additionally, she served as the assistant coach for the 2023 National Champion Meat Animal Evaluation Team.

Macie was active in several campus organizations, including Block & Bridle, where she served as president, ASI Mentors and Collegiate Cattlemen's. While receiving her bachelor's degree, Macie was involved in a variety of research projects within the ASI Department and one within the Department of Entomology.

"My long-term goal is to find a career in extension or academia that allows me to continue to do research and pass on my knowledge to the livestock industry in a way that continues to provide a safe, nutritious and environmentally conscious food supply," she said. Following graduation, Macie plans to pursue a master's degree at K-State with Dr. Dale Blasi and Dr. KC Olson.